memory of our beloved friend

INNOCENCE LOST

I close my eyes and see you before me,
 You're piercing blue eyes, the way they pulled me in...
 I hear your laughter, the innocent laughter that became so familiar.
 I remember the simplicity of our childhood, how the biggest problem in life was choosing between
 A peanut butter sandwich or a grilled cheese for lunch...
 How long the summer nights seemed when we'd lie on the grass
 And search the sky for shooting stars...
 How fun you made everything seem...

But now, as I open my eyes, you're gone.
 I can't hear your voice, I can't see your face-
 Remembering the day you left,
 the summer rain that turned into tears of mourning...
 Even now, when the sun sleeps,
 And the rain begins to fall,
 I remember it all.
 How simple life was.
 You were the light that burned to soon.
 The smile now seen in pictures,
 The laughter we no longer hear...
 But the memory still rings in our ears
 Of the boy whose life brought us together,
 And whose death tore us apart.

- Emily Smith ('99)

Dear Ms. Hannaford and Ms. Platt,

The class of 1999 would like to thank you for all the time, patience, and hard work you have put in for us throughout the past four years. We know every class event was not easy, but you always tried your best to make it successful. Above all you were not only our advisors, but our friends. You were there to help make our memories, share our laughter, and watch us grow. We are happy to say that our past four years at Wakefield High School have been unforgettable, thank you for sharing them with us and helping us make memories that will last a lifetime. We'll miss you!

Sincerely,
The Wakefield High School Class of 1999

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL

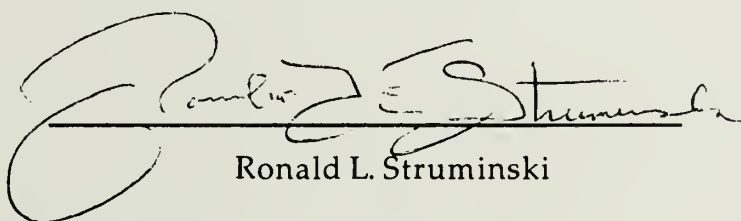

June 1999

TO THE CLASS OF 1999:

On behalf of the administration, faculty, and staff of Wakefield High School, I congratulate you as you step into adulthood. I hope your years at WHS fulfilled the promises of our goals: intellectual achievement, mutual respect, and service to others.

The challenges which will confront you in the new millennium will require the best you can give of yourselves. Technology has created a global economy and an interdependence never before realized. But with challenge comes new opportunities. Continue to believe in your ability to succeed, but always with a charitable attitude toward others less fortunate. Remember in the future that the best thing to spend on your children is time and that the sacrifices your parents/guardians made on your behalf should be foremost in your minds as you begin your own families.

Best wishes! It has been a rewarding experience being a part of your lives.

Ronald L. Struminski

The Years Gone By

The time has come
For one and all
To get together
And have a ball.
It's senior year!
So many smiles,
And a little fear.
Boys and girls,
Now women and men,
Are on their way
To what waits for them.
We started this voyage
Freshman year;
Now the end is almost near.
But no! We will not cry,
We will smile when we think
Of times gone by.
Let's think back
To the first day,
Wow! Which way did you say?
We all were scared.
Even a little?
Most seniors then
Just responded with a riddle.
But hey!
We found our way!
Sophomore year, it was fun.
Babies, no more, forget the pun.
Over the summer,
We all grew a little;
No more notes in class,
No more pididdle.
Well . . . ?
Junior year!
It's finally here.
Upperclassmen at last!
We never thought
It could happen this fast.
It's time for SAT's
And thinking about college.
Can we do it?
Do we have the knowledge?
It was tough, academics were hard,
But we progressed, still moving forward.
The year went fast,
For most, at least.
The time of being too young
Has finally ceased!
Seniors at last!
What a blast!
Who knew?
It came so fast!
Pressure to apply.
Some will, some won't.
Wait 'til the last minute?
Uhhmm . . . we won't!
Some got in early,
Some got in late.
But hey!
At least we made the due date!
Next year, we'll be apart,
So let's make it fun!
The end might be close,
But we're not quite done!
Lots of activities,
Come one, come all!
Senior show?
We had such a ball!
But we're almost out.
The end will come.
Keep these words
As our memorandum.
These years together
Have been priceless and few.
Now where to go?
Now what to do?
Well, guys, it's been fun!
And, of course,
We'll all do just fine!
So good luck!
Have fun!
I love you!
Class of 1999.

Popsicle toes! I'm going to miss a lot after this year is over, but I'll always have the memories from all my friends. Many will be of good times and of bad, but there will be a lot of weird ones too like all those random yellow objects and the screen I tripped over, or Chemistry class. I've still got that note, Matt! Some things I won't forget: WHASUP, volleyball, Mr. Happy, Mrs. Buttarro, Labamba, and eating a strawberry lunch outside. Speaking of food, Do you have any tomatoes? I will miss WHS, and the people that I spent my four years with. NM, JP, N, T, C, A, D, B.O.C, and J.H. There are many others to mention, but that will take up too much space. Freshman basketball will be remembered because that was my first academic activity in the WHS. I wish I did more for extracurricular activities, but I never had the drive. Remember my insight in pro wrestling and The Three Stooges. Good luck in the years to come.

To Whom It May Concern:

Before we depart from wonderful W.“M”.H.S. the Senior Class would like to leave you with one last message. We would like to thank you for our endless hours of classtime. You have aborted the “traditional” 48 minute class and have created the 74 minute “nap” time for your students. Our senior cafe study has now become the politically correct term, Academic Support Center. The help we receive and work we accomplish far outweighs all that would been done in the senior cafe study. We would like to compliment the Administration for the fashionable bright red “parking permit” stickers that must be displayed on the rear back windshield of our vehicles. The abundance of parking spaces makes it easy and accessible not to receive a bright orange parking ticket which is given out on a daily basis. We would further like to praise your steps in making education a more serious issue. Not only has the school day been increased, but the school year as well. The 20 minutes added on at the end of the day makes such a difference in the academic process. The switch from May to June finals gives the Seniors all the more time to prepare.

In conclusion, we would like to wish the underclassmen well in the upcoming years at W.H.S.. With any luck, you will complete your Senior year by August, with many more “privileges” than we have received.

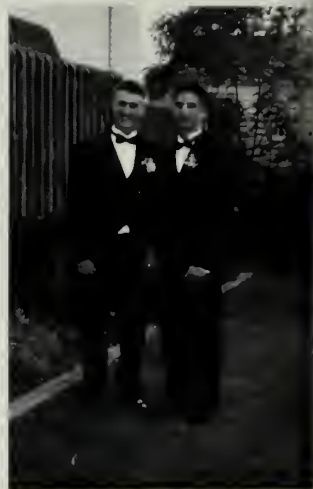

Respectfully,

The Class of 1999

The Top 8 (Yes 8) Reasons Why It's Fabulous To Be A Senior At Wakefield High

- 8) The end of Junior year: You're now a Senior, but before the summer ends and your year of greatness officially begins, you'll receive what parents always told you to keep in mind . . . your transcripts. Also, it's Class Rank time: Where are you in the parade of numbers?
- 7) Sifting through the college mail. Remember all those envelopes you gathered Junior year? Well haul 'em out, because it's now time to start choosing. Wow! So many schools to consider-the St. Louis School of Boiling Water or the University of Turkey Basting (aren't you glad you wrote that 80-page Puritan paper for AP US History?
- 6) The Actual College Application Process: These are kind of like those index cards we filled out at the beginning of the year, except a little more detailed. Prepare to answer in beautiful pageant form how you are going to change the world! A simple process . . . really.
- 5) Getting out of here before all the vermin attacks! Oh wait, those were just rumors, weren't they?
- 4) Speaking of ASC: Remember Junior year when we could work cooperatively and possibly bring in a beverage? But now, "Whoa, slow down, Mr. Neale. I just need to borrow an Advanced Math book. Do those forms really need to be signed in triplicate?"
- 3) Hey, I've got a great idea! Let's give a bunch of inexperienced drivers with cars older than they are a place to fly into 2.12536 seconds before the bell (Dunkin's in hand) and a place to fly out of 2.12536 seconds after the bell rings at 2:05 p.m. It's their very own spot-the Senior Parking Lot.
- 2) Senior Activities: Senior show. We bonded, right? Plus, we all got to hang out in our pj's. Also, the Scavenger Hunt: legal or illegal. Come on admit, you boys loved the lipstick. Senior pictures: Great! Now my wallet is big and heavy. I can at least pretend it's money.
- 1) Not having to make up snow days. Bring it on because no matter what, we are out of here before all of you!

Peace . . . out . . . it's been real, kids

A stylized black and white illustration. On the left, a thick, textured tree trunk with white cracks extends from the bottom to the top. A hockey stick leans against the tree, its blade resting on the ground. To the right of the stick is a large, segmented ball, possibly a basketball or volleyball. Further right is a small hockey puck. The background is plain white, with several small, hand-drawn star-like symbols scattered around the text.

Captain: James Iosua

Good luck to all the seniors and underclassmen next year. We were a much better team than our record indicates, but when our MVP James Iosua was injured we lost the momentum we needed to be as successful as we hoped. However it was not just the victories that were the highlights of the season, it was also the good times on and off the court. The seniors will never forget all the memories they shared with the team. We would also like to thank Coach Simpson and the rest of the coaching staff for everything they did.

Every day for almost four months the team would push itself in order to prove its worth. Wakefield was proud to announce that we had four All-Star players: Erica Dusenberry, Julie Higgins, Katelyn Dwyer and Jennifer Lockhart.

We would like to wish the Warrior team good luck in the future. We would also like to say thank you, for all of your support throughout the season.

Gymnastics

WHS Girls Gymnastics Team!

The WHS girls gymnastics team has taken a turn for the better this season. A 5th place finish with a ten point increase in our score was a big accomplishment at the Middlesex League meet. We will remember this season as a major improvement. The Gym Show was a blast, with the amazing sloth! Aaaaah! AH vs. KG cake fight, rope swinging, side piggy backs and Brittany Spears are a few things we'll never forget about this season. Despite the many sprained ankles, we had an AWESOME season!

After The Last Game

The mood is not apparent at first. As I walk into the locker room, I have a confused feeling about myself. We just won, so the mood is a high one, right? Wrong. It is the last time we will convene as a team. We were a family, now we are on our own. The music begins to play. "Yellow-Led-Better" plays on the huge sound system on one end of the room. On the other, a look of sadness overcomes every senior. We begin to look around at each other's faces and at our own lockers. It doesn't matter where we look. We cannot escape the feeling of withdrawal that we feel now. Suddenly, everyone notices Joe in the corner. He is overcome with his emotions. Now the phase change from exhilarated to withdrawn to an emotional wreck is beginning to set in. We look at Joe. We look at each other. Then we look deep within ourselves. These have been the happiest of years and now it has come to a halt. We knew it was coming. We tried to prepare. But how can anyone prepare for the end of what has been their life thus far? We begin to hear a little whimper coming from the corner. Another has dropped the emotional wall and given in to the moment. We all will. It is inevitable. We can't fight the pain. To my right, facing his own locker, John is using his emotions in a more masculine way. He is furious and cannot control his manner. He has never had to face this kind of scene. He is putting up walls around himself and is not letting anyone in. Now, we are starting to realize that there is but once more through that door. That after this, WE are no more. Putting our differences aside, we embrace each other, holding on as if to never let go. The longer it goes on, the greater the flow of tears and feeling of distraught. Sean is standing at his locker. He is just standing there. Not talking. Not exactly crying. A look of sadness was on his face, the likes of which I have never seen. He just stood there staring at the trophy we just won. He wasn't just looking at it. He was looking through it, about it, and realizing its significance. This has been his life. This has been his sanctity. This has been his savior. Never again on the same field of play, but now on the field of life. A look ahead of what's to come is overlooked. Later, I linger behind with a few others. The tears have stopped and reality has set in. Afraid to walk out that door, we just sit staring thinking . . . waiting . . . for something to lift us out of our seats. What to do? Where to go? It's all over. Or has it just begun?
